

INTERNATIONAL OPEN CALL FOR ARTISTS

SEGESTA TEATRO FESTIVAL

Theater, music, dance at the Segesta Archaeological Park
II Edition

The Segesta Teatro Festival is a multidisciplinary festival that includes theater, dance and music performances scheduled at the Ancient Theater and Doric Temple of the Segesta Archaeological Park (Trapani, Sicily - Italy).

The first edition directed by Claudio Collovà, held from Aug. 2 to Sept. 4, 2022, involved more than 200 of the best artists on the national and international scene who performed as part of 31 theatrical, musical and choreographic shows.

The second edition, scheduled from July to August 2023, aims to retrace the lines drawn during last summer, supporting the development and experimentation of new creative, theatrical, musical and choreographic languages in an ideal link with the themes and languages of antiquity. Through the programming of shows, performances, installations, workshops and lectures, the Segesta Teatro Festival promotes the meeting of Italian and foreign artists with the public of the Archaeological Park, while enhancing local talents.

The programming therefore moves along three fundamental lines: the contamination of languages that proceed from the ancient to the contemporary, the exchange between themes and practices of innovation and tradition, and the opening to the international context starting from the enhancement of local talent.
